RCS Students Help Care Net Babies & Moms

Racine Christian students Ethan Song, Jenna Beaudin, and Matthew Rhoads show baby care items collected for Care Net FRC, a local crisis pregnancy center.

Every year, Racine Christian School students collect baby care items for Care Net Family Resource Center, which helps local families in crisis pregnancy situations. This year, the children collected more than 200 packages of diapers, wipes, and other items during their Christmas Drive.

Principal Dave Van Swol says, “Students love knowing that the packages they carry to school for the Care Net Drive will help babies and little children. It’s a great way for them to show the love of God to someone needing a helping hand – right in our own community.”

Christian education at Racine Christian School incorporates community service plus academic excellence with Biblical teaching. For information on K-8 enrollment, call Van Swol at 262/634-0961. The school is located at 912 Virginia Street in Racine and on the web at RacineChristianSchool.com.
