Racine Christian Students Win Literary Awards

Racine Christian School students Emma Knoell and Logan Farrington recently won awards for writing and illustrating their own books. The Delta Kappa Gamma Sigma State Literary Competition sponsored the competition. Students were honored at an awards banquet held by the Racine Literary Council.

Emma received a creative writing award at the local level and an illustration award at the state level for her book, entitled The Flashback Kid. Logan received an honorable mention for writing his book, A Skateboarder's Dream. Both were students in Anna Stavlo's third grade class.

Racine Christian Principal Dave Van Swol says, "Reading and writing are high priorities at RCS, and our teachers continually find creative ways to help students use these skills. This project gave students an opportunity to test their talents and expand their horizons. Congratulations!"
