Racine Christian Mentors New Parents

says Racine Christian Principal Dave Van Swol. “What’s different at Racine Christian is our Parent Mentoring Program – which gives new parents similar care and attention.”

RCS Parent Mentoring matches new parents with experienced parents to help each new family get connected with programs, activities, and other families of the school. New parents can call their mentors with questions and get advice. Mentors also commit to praying for their new families for the year.

“This draws us all together,” Van Swol adds, “while smoothly integrating new parents into the RCS family. It’s our way of providing an extra level of personal attention, and parents say they love the program.” This year’s Parent Mentoring Coordinator is Melissa Ramcke.

Home, church, and school come together at Racine Christian School, located at 912 Virginia Street in Racine. Students excel in academics, grow in Christ, and enjoy sports and music programs. For information on K-8 enrollment, call Principal Dave Van Swol at 262/634-0961. www.RacineChristianSchool.com.
