Racine Christian Volunteers Prepare for Sept. 6

“It takes a family,” says Racine Christian School Facilities Chairman Steve Martin. “Our school supporters pull together like one big family to prepare for the new school year.”

Martin estimates that volunteers have invested several thousand hours over the summer. Board members, parents, grandparents, teachers, and even youngsters have helped paint walls, wax floors, scrub lockers and chalkboards, and clean windows during the summer, with a big crescendo of elbow grease right before classes start September 6. Also, new floors have been installed throughout the entire elementary wing, with new cabinets and countertops soon to be installed.

“Christian education is all about giving your best to God,” notes Martin, “We give our best efforts so the children and staff will have a sparkling clean school. We set high standards for academics and behavior, so standards for our facility are equally high.”

Racine Christian School is located close to home, at 912 Virginia Street in Racine. There is still time to register for the school's new K-2-1 Transitional Kindergarten program, with children attending school three days/week for the first two quarters. A fourth day, then a fifth day, is added in the spring semester to gradually accustom children to school. For information on K-8 enrollment, call Principal Dave Van Swol at 262/634-0961.
